

CatalogXpress™ . . . with SOURCE ONE® GSA Data

The world's most comprehensive source for product and component
information

All of the information you need for Contract and COTS purchases is now on one, timesaving Web site!

CatalogXpress with SOURCE ONE GSA Data combines the strengths of SOURCE ONE with the open-market purchasing power of CatalogXpress. On this one timesaving Web site, you will find all of the Federal Supply Schedules, related publications and contractor information you need, plus full-text catalogs and directory information for over 16,000 open-market suppliers.

This merged database means that in one simple search you can find information on both commercial and GSA suppliers—it's almost like cutting your search time in half!

The CatalogXpress difference makes your job easier:

Full-Text Searching — for the most comprehensive results

CatalogXpress full-text searching can help you quickly find alternate suppliers. You can locate keywords in the complete text of more than 3 million catalog pages from over 16,000 prime industrial manufacturers and distributors. And now, Federal Supply Catalogs, GSA-related publications such as the GSA Supply Catalog, UNICOR, VA Supply Catalog, etc., as well as the GSA catalogs from over 6,000 contractors are also full-text searchable and merged into this same database.

Fast Navigation — to go right to the information you need CatalogXpress saves you time because it takes you to the exact pages that contain your search terms—there's no need to page through large schedules and catalogs! And, all contractor information is conveniently displayed on a single page.

Currency — to access the most up-to-date information

We are now more current than ever! Catalogs, schedules, and GSA-related publications are updated daily, around the clock. They are prioritized based on actual customer usage—frequently referenced catalogs move through our line much faster.

Number Searching — to pinpoint the items you need

Quickly find products meeting a military spec or commercial standard! Just plug in the document number and find all catalogs, schedules, and GSA-related publications that reference it. You can also search by manufacturer's part/model number, CAGE Code, Federal ID Number, D-U-N-S® Number, Contract Number, FSC, NSN, or Special Item Number (SIN). You can even combine a part number with a manufacturer's name or keyword to instantly view the exact pages you need!

The world's most comprehensive source for product and component information

Thousands of Additional Vendors — to find small and local suppliers

CatalogXpress provides the most extensive coverage of small and local companies. Over 400,000 manufacturer directory listings from Harris InfoSource™ and more than 210,000 distributor and sales office listings are included.

Parts Center Link — to order products and components online

Link directly from CatalogXpress to the IHS Parts Center Web site where you can view an even larger collection of part information. The IHS Parts Center offers information on government-stocked parts, GSA contractors, government bid opportunities, and much more. You can even automatically request supplier quotes!

Preferred Suppliers — to go with preferred sources first

As a subscription option, we can add a list of your preferred suppliers. You will then be able to limit searches to just the catalogs from your preferred suppliers. If your preferred suppliers don't have the item you need, you can expand your search to the entire database.

Custom Catalogs — to have critical data at your fingertips

As a subscription option, IHS can add your catalog collection to CatalogXpress. Save money and increase productivity by adding your own catalogs online and making them readily available to your entire organization. When everyone has access to your preferred suppliers' catalogs you can take greater advantage of their volume discounts.
